A meeting was held at CPSP, Karachi on 21st March 2012 wherein of Prof. Aley Hasan Zaid, President PAP and Prof. Shahid Pervaiz, Local Coordinator of Pakistan Association of Pathologists contributed TWO new models of Microscopes to the Department of Pathology of CPSP. Prof. Shahid Pervaiz also donated a recently published book on Pathology for the College Library.

Prof. Zafar Ullah Chaudhry, President CPSP addressing the audience. He is flanked by Prof. Aley Hasan Zaidi, President PAP and Prof. Shabid Pervaiz, Local Coordinator PAP.
Welcoming the President CPSP, Prof. Zafar Ullah Chaudhry and other guests, Prof. Aley Hasan Zaidi, President Pakistan Association of Pathologists and Head, Department of Pathology expressed his gratitude to Prof. Zafar Ullah Chaudhy, President CPSP for allowing the PAP to hold their 31st National and 5th International Conference at the premises of CPSP, Karachi. He said the contribution of Two latest modeled microscopes is a humble donation to express its gratitude to CPSP.

Prof. Shahid Pervaiz, Coordinator for Karachi Region of PAP, in his short speech told that the Conference held at the safe, serene and academic environment of CPSP was a great contribution of the College to Pakistan Association of Pathologists.

He added that pathology was not held in high esteem, but with the latest advancements in medical sciences, pathology has become the best diagnostic tool for almost diseases. He said that now pathology has been restored to its rightful place amongst medical sciences. He informed that the normal practice is that money saved after the conduct of a conference is sent to the PAP central account. However, the Karachi Chapter of PAP decide that instead of returned the money to central kitty, it was decided that the Local chapter should gift two recent models of microscopes to the College. Thus the gift of two microscopes to the Department of Pathology of CPSP is being made today. He also presented a recent published book on Pathology.

Prof. Zafar Ullah Chaudhry, President CPSP in his brief speech while accepting the gift, thanked the PAP. He said that it is a long standing tradition of the Fellows of CPSP to contribute to the College. He added that the book presented is worth millions of rupees as it contains latest knowledge on Pathology. Poverty does not begin or end with pocket; it is heart and mind that is poor or wealthy, He said. And by repaying to the College, its fellows are in fact helping it to the posterity by spreading knowledge.

President also informed that soon the College will have a Fellows corner in the College where the Fellows will have free access to internet and other facilities. Responding to the remarks of Prof. Shahid Pervaiz, Prof. Chaudhry said that Pathology was considered as mother of all medical sciences and if Pathology did not have its rightful place, either the mother did not go along with its kids (other medical sciences) or the speed of progress of other sciences had overtaken Pathology. The Pathologists should look into the causes within.

Prof. Zafar Ullah Chaudhry informed that soon the first major event of the Golden Jubilee celebrations will be held at Lahore with a Joint conference of CPSP and Bangladesh College of Physicians and Surgeons where scientific papers will be presented and also the Convocation of the College will be held there. He informed that College Council has decided to set up a Vet and Simulating lab at CPSP National Headquarters with a proposed cost of Rs. 100 millions. It will be a State of Art lab and will help improve research qualitative too.

The Council has decided to collect donations from its Fellows and other donors for the establishment of the said lab and every donor contributing Rs. 100,000/- will have his name inscribed on a Wall of Honour, to be erected at CPSP, Karachi. Every member of the Council will contribute Rs. 100,000/- to make a beginning. The President said that this is a noble academic cause which will help out coming generations and all those who can afford, should contribute to the cause.
